President's Address.

DEAR WOMEN OF THE AUXILIARY:

"Lo I am with you alway even unto the end of the world." As we are gathered here upon the anniversary of the ascension of our Blessed Lord, to review the work we have done in His name during the past year, I am sure we can all bear testimony that this promise is being constantly verified. Have we not all been conscious of a Divine Presence helping us to accomplish what in our weakness seemed beyond our power, rebuking our little faith by giving abundant success to our imperfect efforts, giving us wisdom to plan and strength to execute methods for the advancement of Christ's kingdom on earth, thus enabling us in some degree to obey the command, "Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature"?

The year has been one of progress in every department of the work. In every district new branches have been formed, until in some of them almost every parish and mission station has a branch of the Auxiliary. I earnestly hope that at the close of another year this may be affirmed of every parish and mission station in the Diocese. There is no reason why the women of even the weakest mission station should not be led to realize that as great a responsibility rests upon them as baptized members of the great missionary society, the Church, to help in its work, as upon those connected with stronger parishes, and that they will be called upon to give account of the talents committed to their charge, and that their smaller efforts, if the best they can do, are just as important and just as acceptable as the larger gifts of those more favored. In this way a larger number can be interested to learn of missions and then to pray and work for them.

The most important and satisfactory advance has been the permanent organization of Junior work in the Diocese. Much good work has been done in past years by the children and young girls, but with the limited amount of time I am able to give to the work of the Auxiliary, it has been impossible for me to give the attention to the Junior work which its importance demands. I have therefore been anxious for some time that a separate department should be organized, with some capable woman to take charge of it, and this year Providence has given me a most earnest and efficient assistant, by whose aid I have been able to carry out my desire for a special department for this branch of Auxiliary work. In every district but one, Junior Superintendents have been appointed and the work placed upon a substantial basis.

I wish to call your attention to the Diocesan pledges. At our Diocesan meetings we pledged ourselves for objects to be our united work. These meetings are made up of delegates from the different districts, and the districts should consider themselves bound by the action of their delegates, and so before taking up any other work in which they may be interested, should see that their proportion of the sums for which the Diocesan branch is pledged is provided for. District officers are hampered, and your Diocesan president given a great burden of anxiety, because the parish branches either do not consider themselves bound by these pledges, or else thoughtlessly fail to assume their share of them. Those to whom the money is pledged look to me for it. I must turn to the district officers, and they can only redeem their part of the pledges by the parish branches religiously endeavoring to do their part in the matter. It is of very serious importance that this should be remembered, for failure to meet these pledges means serious loss to our faithful missionaries. For instance, the Bishop has just put into our hands the providing the salary of Rev. John Scott, our missionary at the Reservation. If each district would give its just proportion this would be easily done, and the districts could do this without trouble if every parish would feel bound to contribute toward it. The past winter Mr. Scott was obliged to appeal to the Bishop, who could only turn to me, and for some months I was constantly anxious for fear the entire amount would not be contributed. I should like each district to make this their first work in the fall and see that whatever is pledged for this object is paid in by or soon after Jan. 1st, and so make it impossible that Mr. Scott should apply for a quarter's salary and find nothing in the treasury to meet it.

Another matter of importance is with regard to reports of work. It can easily be understood that Miss Emery must have a correct statement of where and to whom boxes have been sent, not for publication, for as you know the names of clergymen are not mentioned in our reports, but to avoid the possibility of some needy missionary failing to receive assistance, while some other one might have a double portion. Diocesan and district officers are helpless in the matter unless parish officers make full and complete reports. We often get reports of boxes sent to a missionary in Iowa or Minnesota or some other state or territory. Of course this is very indefinite and really conveys no information as to who is the beneficiary. If the district officers will make it understood by parish officers that the full name and address of the missionary aided must be given, and then if parish officers will be careful to keep correct record and thus report, much annoyance and confusion will be avoided.

At the General Meeting of the Auxiliary held in Baltimore last autumn, it was decided that the United Thank Offering of the Auxiliary, to be presented at the General Meeting in 1895, should be given for the endowment of a Missionary Jurisdiction. This requires $66,000 for a Domestic and $56,000 for a Foreign Jurisdiction; but when we remember that the magnificent offering of more than $20,000 which was presented in Baltimore was really the result of a few months work, there seems no doubt but that if we begin in earnest the adequate sum can easily be raised. District officers should try and interest parish branches at once in this offering. Mite boxes will be furnished at the mission rooms upon application, and I am sure many who are not in the habit of regular giving can be persuaded to make a beginning in this way. Oh, if we could only arouse Church women to a sense of the great debt they owe to Christ and His church for the blessings they enjoy, and the positions of influence and honor they occupy, I am sure they would find some means of making some practical acknowledgment. How ready we are to acknowledge and strive to repay the favors bestowed by earthly friends; but how slow to recognize the blessings bestowed by the Great Benefactor, from whom indeed "cometh every good and perfect gift." Let us earnestly endeavor to awaken a feeling of gratitude in those about us that will lead to increased interest and work. If we really have the devotion to the cause which we profess, we shall certainly make it manifest and others will catch something of the same spirit.

E. L. KNICKERBOCKER,
Diocesan President.

The Church Periodical Club.

The following is the report of the diocesan branch of this organization for the year ending May, 1893:

There are 24 libraries; 193 persons regularly contributing; 193 periodicals sent regularly this year; 27 books; 1,460 odd numbers of periodicals and magazines.
