

Dear Fr. Dresbach,

After Thursday's horror - this letter seems a bit passe. It almost seems to me that with King's death - the hope of America died... when I see our flag flying today - I see a symbol of death & violence.

It is like we are living in the last days of the Roman Empire & I just don't know what if anything we can do.
I'm sure these aren't isolated feelings - many must feel the same....

I'd continue to support ESCRU - but against my own deeper intuitive feelings - (I've had it with the Establishment & with the liberals (which I've never been!) It seems to me the liberals represent almost a greater evil than the right! The Humphreys on the national level & the Seabirds & Horrons on our own scene both are degenerated elements which clutter the way to any real solutions -

What I hope you may find some viable way for yourself & ESCRU - but I don't see any real role - you've missed the boat - too little & too late & no real insight into society (that requires a class analysis - not a bourgeoisian sentimentality!) Fraternally,

Frank Tozier

P.S. Thanks for sending the materials on V-N.
